DEATH OF EMPEROR WILHELM.

EMPEROR WILHELM, after a long and successful reign of forty-four years, died yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the advanced age of 91 years. He was one of the most remarkable men of modern times, and his name will be handed down to history as one of the greatest warriors and rulers of his time.

SONOMA TO THE FRONT.

At last Sonoma has woken up. For years, although enjoying the distinction of being the oldest town in the State, she has been at a standstill, if not on the down grade. Her men of wealth, many of whom have accumulated all their worldly possessions since coming here, have taken little or no interest in her future welfare. These have at last woken up to the realization that it is now either "sink or swim, survive or perish," as far as the old town is concerned. And they have apparently decided to swim and survive. As an indication of the progressive spirit that has seized the leading property-owners of this city no better evidence is wanting than the fact that some fifteen or twenty of them have subscribed in the neighborhood of $3,000 in hard cash toward the construction of an iron bridge across Sonoma creek at the foot of Napa street. In addition to this some $4,000 or $5,000 has also been donated by the people of this town toward the Donahue proposition to give Sonoma two fast trains daily over a broad gauge road instead of the present service of one slow train over a narrow gauge road. Twenty thousand dollars is asked by the Donahue people to insure this improved service, some $16,000 of which has already been subscribed, leaving $4,000 yet to be raised. The greater part of this subscription has been donated by farmers in this valley who have no property interests in this city, but as they will be benefited by improved railroad facilities in this valley by an enhancement in the value of their farms, they have contributed on that score. Now that the bridge project has been carried successfully through those of our property-owners who have not already done so should contribute to this Donahue project. The time has now arrived when this town cannot afford to take any more chances. The spirit of progress is abroad in our valley. Capital has been attracted hither and new towns are projected within a few miles of Sonoma, which will be a help instead of a detriment to her business interests if her property-owners will but seize the opportunity now presented of making this city the centre of trade of one of the most fruitful valleys in the State. All that is necessary to do this is a little enterprise on the part of the real estate owners of this city. They should encourage every new town and settlement in the valley but while doing so they should also reach out and strive to secure the bulk of trade of these new towns and settlements.

Let them get up and rustle.

build up the town as they have on the iron bridge project and our word for it Sonoma has a bright future before her.

An English Journal's Opinion of Sonoma Valley.

Under the above heading the Bideford (England) Gazette pays the following glowing tribute to our valley. The gentleman referred to in the article is Gen. H. Gordon of the English Army, who was the guest of Capt. and Mrs. Boyes about a year ago.

"Thanks to the kindness of a gentleman, now resident at Bideford, who has spent some time in the Sonoma Valley, California, we have had the pleasure of inspecting some photographs of the production of that rich and lovely district. From what we have seen and read, we are convinced that it would indeed be difficult to find a more charming valley than Sonoma. Dame Nature, with no stinting hand, has endowed this entrancing spot with every faculty for production, together with a most equable climate. The principal industries of the valley are fruit growing, wine making and dairy farming. In addition to these, the valley is prolific of many things that may be termed natural. Among these may be mentioned basalt rock, the quarries of which are the most extensive on the Pacific Coast. Among its many other features, Sonoma is famous all over the United States for its vines, which are eagerly sought after. These are noted for their flavour, color and bouquet. One of the chief recommendations of the valley is that all fruits and grapes are grown entirely without irrigation. There was recently a grand exhibition of exhibits from various parts of California, when the first premium of 1,000 dollars was awarded to the Sonoma Valley Exhibit. We are obliged for the photographs to which we have referred; and shall be pleased to show them to anyone who would like to see them. If we thought of emigrating, we should be strongly tempted to go to the Sonoma Valley."

Planting the Vines.

A stranger looking for information on the planting of vines, says the San Jose Mercury, would be confused by the different opinions prevailing as to the relative value of cuttings, rooted vines, length of cuttings, depth of planting required, etc. It is likely that some of these diverging opinions come from planting on different soils, or with different kinds of grapes. One grape-grower says, plant a cutting two feet long so as to have plenty of room to start roots. Another says I did so and over half the cuttings died. The first might have been planted in sandy or gravelly soil, where the air circulated at a considerable depth; the second person, planting where there was more clay in the soil, found that the lower end of the cutting, being in damp ground, often rotted, making the whole plant or cutting unhealthy. In the last instance two or three inches in the ground would have been ample.

Others disagree about the best height of the cuttings above the ground. There is no doubt but that a long cutting will bear sooner than a short one. No vine will bear until the cap is forced quite a distance through old wood; hence the benefit of the long stem above the roots. It has its disadvantages, however. The resistance to the circulation offered by the longer stock of closed grain, well ripened wood after the first year causes a greater growth of suckers, which, if neglected, will monopolize the whole force of the roots. For this reason many growers leave one bud to grow, destroying the rest. The fruit grown the first and second and third years after planting amounts to little. The bearing period will commence more vigorously for pinching off all premature fruit.

The method of putting out cuttings has much to do with their making a successful growth. One of the worst plans is to punch a hole in the ground with a crowbar making the wall stand by pressing the dirt outward all around. This leaves a hard wall of earth, which the smallest delicate roots cannot penetrate. Oftentimes the root makes a circuit of the hole three or four times before it finds an outlet, delaying the growth of the cutting. The better way is to open the hole with a spade. Except for the subsequent danger of being struck with a plow, the cutting would do as well laid in a furrow.

An unaccountable difference of opinion prevails regarding the planting of cuttings or rooted vines. It would seem that rooted vines were more sure, and in better condition for making a growth than the naked sticks—the right of testimony is in favor of rooted vines. The cost of tending cuttings in a nursery are less than in field culture. In the first instance there are but 640 to the acre. Planted in nursery rows there may be ten times that number, saving considerable labor.

THE VITICULTURIST.

Appointment of Committees to Sample Wines.

The Viticultural Convention which met in San Francisco last Tuesday appointed the following committees to sample the various competitive wines:

Committee on Red Wines—M. M. Estee of San Francisco, H. Pellet of St. Helena, A. G. Chauche of San Francisco, Charles W. Sutter of San Francisco, J. B. J. Portal of San Jose, Dr. J. A. Stewart of Santa Cruz, R. J. Harrison of San Francisco, and Charles Bundschu of San Francisco.

Committee on White Wines—E. C. Priber of San Francisco, Professor E. W. Hilgard of Berkeley, F. Pohndorf of Mission San Jose, E. H. Rixford of San Mateo, J. P. Smith of Livermore, Julius Dressel of Sonoma.

Committee on Sweet Wines and Brandies—Charles Meinicke of San Francisco, H. W. McIntyre of Vina, F. T. Eisen of San Francisco, I. Landsberger of San Francisco, J. Ch. de St. Hubert of Fresno, N. E. Rose of St. Helena.

Dissatisfaction has been expressed in regard to the original plan of appointing many committees to select samples, thereby multiplying the number of samples to be sent for exhibition from the competition of the State. The original plan was arranged in order to divide up the work as much as possible. To accomplish this, and to allow of all competitive samples coming in direct competition with all others of their class from the State, the Commissioners decided to do away with county committees and county competitions, dividing the work among the three committees above named, which are thereby enabled to begin immediately with the opening of the convention, make a final determination of the samples submitted to them and have their report ready before the close of the convention.

Of Interest to Advertisers.

One of the queer things in business is the propensity of the people to seek irregular mediums of advertising. It is unaccountable the prices some men pay for sticking their advertisements in irregular places. Especially is this so when compared with their unwillingness to pay anything for advertising in the regular channels. Advertisements, thrust into irregular and unbusiness-like places, impress the general mind that the concern is of a similar character. But an advertisement in a general newspaper of first-class standing, carries the impression that the advertiser has standing in his own community which he is not afraid to show to his neighbors; and that he does not shrink from competition with the best of them. If any one is going to a place to buy, whether he be a trader or buyer for his own use and has to seek dealers through advertisements, where will he look for them? To registers, almanacs, theatre bill frames, in railway stations, occasional advertising sheets or circulars? On the contrary, he looks to the reputable newspapers of the place, and he thinks advertising in these gives an assurance of the good standing of the advertiser and his business enterprise, and of the sufficiency of his stock.

A dispatch from Cloverdale.

dated March 5th, says: Last evening while a boatman was transporting meat across the Russian river to the railroad camp of the Cloverdale and Ukiah Railroad, Carl Kruse, a tunnelman, jumped into the boat to cross to the other side. The swift current of the river, occasioned by the heavy rainfall, capricious the boat. Kruse was unable to swim, and three times did the boatman succeed in getting Kruse onto the boat and then swim to the shore for a rope to throw to him, but the boat, striking a rock, threw Kruse back into the water and he was drowned. Deceased has relatives living in San Bernardino county.

Robert Garrett and His Tailor.

Dr. W. H. Garrett, a consideration of the highest importance. In this direction he steers with skillful discrimination between the gaudy and the sober. His taste is fastidious, and his every garment must be in the latest fashion and cut with the greatest precision to the lines of his figure. His clothing is connected with supreme regard for the smallest details, and his wardrobe is extensive. As a matter of fact, he has nearly 100 different suits of clothes. They are all new and can be jumped into in a jiffy, no matter how great the exigencies of the occasion. They range from the hammer coat to the fashion shooting jacket, and the pantaloons are a veritable symphony in wearing apparel. Mr. Garrett's tailor has his shop in New York. This personage keeps the railroad president constantly in receipt of samples of the latest styles of goods. So soon as he finds anything to please his fancy he wires his tailor a few days before a contemplated trip to New York to make him a suit of that sample. When he reaches New York the suit is made and waiting for him at his hotel. He nearly always has his feet incased in dainty patent leathers.

Mr. Garrett's collection of hats, canes and umbrellas is practically numberless. Visitors, upon entering his house, have frequently been appalled by the immense number of hats scattered through the halls. They fall into the natural error of supposing that he is entertaining a vast delegation of his friends at dinner. Mr. Garrett always carries a cane when walking, and hardly ever neglects to adorn the lapel of his coat with a boutonniere. His favorite costume on the street is a dapper tight fitting light check suit and a derby hat—Baltimore Cor. Globe-Democrat.

SUGGESTIVE RUINS.

A Historic Heap Around Which Hover Murders and Misdeeds.

A Democrat reporter plodded his weary way Wednesday to Los Guillicos district, where is the neoclastic town by that name, jestingly called by its envious neighbors "Lost Willycusa." On inquiring for signs of progress on the new railroad, a wicked wag, who had no doubt been reading the exaggerated accounts of last year's forest fires in the San Francisco papers, suggested that the right of way had been destroyed by fire and that the company had suspended operations in order to collect the insurance money. A force of men were found, however, later in the day, doing effective work.

But the reporter was shown by an aged Mexican evidences of an ancient adobe structure, which with the account of the uses for which it was once occupied and the bloody record made by its occupants, excited his deepest interest. In a vineyard not far from Glen Ellen is a fast disappearing mound with a few fragments of stone once forming part of an inn where weary and footsore travelers found entertainment and a more prolonged slumber than they had bargained for. In fact, so the story runs, it was not only an inn, but a headquarters for Mexican gamblers, free-booters and murderers, who spared neither age, sex, color or nationality. Cold steel was used with as much deliberation and coolness on the unsuspecting guest as would be manifested by a butcher when carving a carcass in his stall. The spot now pointed out as the scene of these indiscriminate and unrecorded "removals" is in the middle of a vineyard, but at the time when the alleged shelter for man and beast flourished in the height of its infamy the trail ran near it, and many a hardy pioneer from the States seeking adventure or gold in the mountains to the north, found there food and drink; also entertainment at the gaming table, and if neither of these were effective in separating him from his dust, he was shown to a couch of bear skins and there found sleep that knows no waking in this world.

Just how much truth and how much fiction there is in all this we cannot say, but that there was such an inn kept by one Jaurez Guio rests on the testimony of persons now living. That the soil beneath that heap of rubbish has drunk the blood of more than one unsuspecting traveler, whose strange disappearance and continued silence caused fond hearts to bleed, is equally a well established fact, but just how many or how long the hidden orgies were carried on cannot be ascertained.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

Personal.

Mr. N. H. Frohlichstein, of Mobile, Ala., writes: I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, having used it for a severe attack of Bronchitis and Catarrh. It gave me instant relief and entirely cured me and I have not been afflicted since. I also beg to state that I had tried other remedies with no good result. Have also used Electric Bitters, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, both of which I can recommend. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, is sold on a positive guarantee. Trial bottles free at E. Wegner's Drug Store.

Who is Your Best Friend.

Your stomach of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will tell on you. If your food ferments and does not digest right—if you are troubled with Heartburn, Dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, Bilelessness, Indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, at no person can use it without immediate relief.

The local journal of a small town in England is boasting about Her Majesty the Queen visiting the place. That is nothing to parade before the public. Here in Sonoma Valley we have not only a real live Queen residing permanently among us but also three Kings.

The Board of City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening, but owing to the absence of both the Clerk and his deputy we are unable to give the minutes this week. They will appear in our next issue.

M. K. Cady of Agua Caliente has sold his hotel property and villa sites in that town to the Verano Land Company. Mr. Cady retains his winery and some forty acres of choice vineyard, and will build a residence on the heights overlooking the wine cellar.

The German Sportsman Club of San Francisco will shortly establish a club house below Vellmar's Hotel at Embarcadero. The site is an excellent one, as there are no better all-around fishing and hunting grounds in the State than those in that section of our valley.

C. H. Garoutte of Woodland, Grand President of the N. S. G. W., paid a fraternal visit to Sonoma, Parlor, No. 111, last Thursday evening. After the business of the Parlor had been transacted the members escorted their distinguished visitor to the Occidental Hotel, where an excellent repast had been prepared by Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Moore.

H. G. Illins of Southampton, England, after sojourning in this valley for several weeks, left for Southern California last Monday. Mr. Illins, after taking in that section of the State will return to England and if he can settle up his affairs to advantage will return with his family and take up his abode in our healthy and beautiful valley.

The Y. M. I. entertainment which takes place next Saturday evening gives promise of being one of unusual merit. The fact that the Hon. J. F. Sullivan, Superior Judge of San Francisco, who has become world-wide famous on account of his rulings in the celebrated Hill-Sharon divorce case, will deliver an oration, which in itself will insure a crowded house. The Judge is an easy and graceful speaker and no one should miss the opportunity to hear him on this occasion as they may never have the chance again.

On Tuesday afternoon last Mrs. R. A. Merrill of this place and Mrs. W. A. Allen of San Francisco, started out with a horse and buggy to see the beauties of the valley when the animal took fright and attempted to run away. Mrs. Allen was on the ground at the time opening a gate while Mrs. Merrill held the lines. The former lady caught the horse by the bridle-rein and attempted to hold him, when he became entangled in the gate. Parties working in a vineyard near by came to the assistance of the ladies and in all probability averted a serious accident, as the infant child of Mrs. Allen was in the carriage at the time while Mrs. Merrill is over 70 years of age.

One of Sonoma's Beautiful Homes.

Yesterday we visited Buena Vista, the commanding and magnificent home of Mrs. Robert Johnson. We observed many improvements about the grounds in the way of trees, shrubbery, fine carriage drives and a patent iron gate, over which is a beautiful decorated arch of large dimensions. As one enters the well-arranged grounds through the fine gateway the massive mansion with its tall cupola, the lovely terraced flower plots, the many full foliaged trees and the old high hills as a background, a feeling of admiration takes possession of the beholder and the question arises: which is the adornment, the lovely mansion or the grand old hills? We found the mistress of this beautiful home in the garden giving directions and superintending the pruning of trees. As we approached the spot where the lady stood she stepped to the carriage and with a pleasant smile gave us a kindly and cordial greeting and invited us into the house, where we spent a pleasant hour with this intelligent, refined and domesticated lady of wealth, and one whom riches has not made proud. We felt that life was full of beauty and love as we bade goodbye to this gentle-voiced woman. The picture of this lovely home and the little lady who presides over it will ever remain within our memory. Visitor.

Sonoma, March 7, 1888.

Boom!

Improvements are going on everywhere in this valley and never before in its history has there been so much drive, energy and push evinced by its citizens. One of the most notable enterprises now under way is the laying out of the new town of Verano, two miles northwest of this city, by the Verano Land Company. The work is being done under the supervision of Mr. Geo. H. Maxwell, one of the directors of the company, who has entire charge of the affairs of the company. At the present time a large force of men are engaged in grading the streets of the new town and things are assuming a lively shape up that way. Another enterprise, and one fraught with much importance to this valley, is the water works which are being constructed by the same company, which appears to have illimitable capital at its back. These works are being pushed forward regardless of cost and when finished Sonoma Valley can boast of as good a system of water works as can be found anywhere outside of the large cities of the State.

Disgraceful.

As several ladies and children were returning from the Pythian party on Monday night last they came very near stumbling over the body of a dead drunk, lying on the sidewalk on Napa street. One of the ladies in endeavoring to pass the inebriate slipped from the sidewalk into the mud canal running into the mud canal near falling into a beautiful and costly dress, besides being badly shaken up by the fall. The night being very cold the condition of the intoxicated individual was not to be envied. Constable Sparks happened along shortly after and provided the man with more comfortable quarters in the lock-up.

Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad.

Construction trains of the Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad are now running to Sonoma Creek on the McMakin place, one mile from Schellville, where the road crosses the Sonoma Valley Narrow Gauge railroad. Twenty-five men are engaged in constructing the bridge across Sonoma creek, the material for which is now on the ground. It is expected the structure will be completed the coming week, when construction trains will be able to pass over and track-laying will commence on the west side of the creek and will be pushed rapidly forward to completion.

Fresse's Hamburg Tea.

An Unparalleled Showing.

The sale of property for delinquent taxes took place at the Sheriff's office this morning and the whole amount remaining delinquent was $752.27, a showing unparalleled in the history of the county in proportion to the amount of taxable property. Expressed in round numbers the amount of taxes to be collected was about $350,000, and the final result shows great efficiency in those who had the matter in charge. The principal buyers at the sale were F. G. Nagle and M. McCann. However, considerable of the property was bought in by the owners to save it.—Santa Rosa Republican.

GRAND ANNIVERSARY BALL.

An Agreeable Affair—Toilets of the Ladies Present.

The anniversary ball of Bear Flag Lodge, No. 97, K. of P., which took place at Union Hall on Monday evening the 5th inst., was a pleasant and most enjoyable affair. On account of the inclemency of the weather for two days previous, which rendered the roads almost impassable the attendance was not as large as it otherwise would have been, still quite a number of ladies and gentlemen were present, and financially the ball was a success, as many tickets were sold. The fine hall was well lighted and showed off the tasteful costumes and bright faces of the ladies to advantage as they threaded their way through the merry and graceful dances. We observed several persons from Glen Ellen, Santa Rosa and Embarcadero. The music as discoursed by the Parks' String Band of Santa Rosa was truly charming. The supper, gotten up and served by Mr. and Mrs. Raschen, was excellent and was partaken off with a relish by the jolly votaries of the fantastic. Dancing commenced about nine o'clock and was kept up till near morning. The toilets of the ladies were very becoming, many of the costumes being quite rich. Miss Hein wore a peach bloom lawn embroidered with white, corsage bouquet of white and pink buds. Mrs. Henry Raschen, rich black silk trimmed with jet. Miss Eva Sydnor, black nuns veiling, pink satin ribbon. Miss Cora Perkins, black silk, spray of red velvet flowers at throat. Miss Juanita Connolly, brown alpaca trimmed with pink satin ribbon. Miss A. Ehrlich, black silk with side scarf of garnet silk gracefully caught up, corsage bouquet cardinal crushed roses. Mrs. Capt. Haute, rich green silk with white lace. Miss Rogers, navy blue flowered satin. Miss E. Saunders, black silk, corsage bouquet roses. Miss Willie Akers, brown empress cloth, pink satin ribbon. Mrs. P. A. Pioda, brown satin dress. Mrs. C. H. Crofoot of Glen Ellen, handsome black broadened silk, corsage bouquet of tea roses. Mrs. H. H. Granice, cardinal broadened satin and velvet. Mrs. A. J. Haubert, pink nuns veiling, drapery oriental lace, richly trimmed with pale pink satin ribbon. Miss Etta Raschen, cream nuns veiling draped with white lace and garniture of lemon color satin ribbon; corsage bouquet of tea roses. Miss H. Ehrlich, navy blue broadened satin; corsage light blue satin ribbons. Mrs. Johnson, gray silk, rich black lace trimming. Miss K. Jacoby, white nuns veiling, oriental lace drapery caught up with a spray of flowers. Miss Bertie Sydnor, black dress, light blue side sash. Mrs. Dr. Wm. K. Gray, East Orange, N. J.; rich black broadened satin, front of black ecru lace, corsage bouquet of tea roses. Mrs. R. G. Steele, Merced, olive green watered silk, front of gimpure lace; corsage bouquet of moss roses. Miss Baetge, black dress, light blue ribbon at throat. Miss Grace Johnson, light tan-colored nuns veiling, side panel of white lace. Miss Annie Raschen, black silk trimmed in jet. Miss Celia Granice, pink satin and oriental lace. Julie Granice, white nuns veiling with pink satin.

Mr. George Zane returned last week from Tulare county, where he has been the past three months.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crofoot of Glen Ellen attended the Knights of Pythias ball in this place last Monday evening.

Mrs. Dr. Wm. K. Gray of East Orange, N. J., and Mrs. R. G. Steele of Merced, the aunt and mother of the editor of this paper, spent several days in Sonoma the past week.

Mrs. Mary McHarvey has completed her course of study in the telegraphy department of Healds Business College, San Francisco, and returned to her home in this place.

Glen Ellen Gossip.

A party of serenaders were around last Saturday night and gave all the girls a time.

Last Saturday night two new members joined the Parlor of Native Sons at this place.

Quite a number of our young people attended the ball of the K. of P. in Sonoma Monday evening.

Considerable rain fell here last week, thoroughly soaking the ground and raising all the creeks.

The glass-ball and pigeon-shooting match did not take place as advertised, owing to the heavy rains.

A man last Saturday night took aboard a great amount of tangle-foot and fell at the street crossing on his way home. He had in his hands at the time a bundle weighing probably two pounds. He laid where he fell for some little time, and in getting up picked up a stone weighing 12 pounds, and took it home under the impression that it was his bundle. Glen Ellen tanglefoot must be rather "unsartin." Old Timer.

Los Guillicos Items.

Farmers are about through seeding.

Jerry Farmer of Santa Rosa is engaged in grading the streets.

Messrs. Carpenter and Gilchrist are preparing to graft a large number of choice vines of foreign variety.

Capt. John Staley, late of Glen Ellen, has opened a blacksmith shop at this place, and several fine dwellings are being built.

The good people of this young city have for a week or more been visited by snow, rain and hail. It is now warm and pleasant.

The hotel of the Los Guillicos Company will soon be completed. It will be one of the largest and most commodious north of the Bay.

Judge T. J. Ryan, a young but talented limb of the law, has been bobbing around like a laughing sunbeam for a week past. The genial Tom, as he is known, always brings sunshine and a smile with him. By the way, I wonder what he and Bex (ey) went to Santa Rosa for? Has the report that two weddings are to take place in this city of March anything to do with it? "Turn up the lights" and let us see. I am neither "Pioneer" or "Old Timer," but simply, Joe Bowas.

COUNTY OULINGS.

Ten thousand dollars of Sonoma county's outstanding bonds will be redeemed on the first of next month.

Three of the four small-pox patients in the pest house at Santa Rosa have recovered and been discharged.

The Teachers' County Institute commences at Cloverdale on April 2d. It is expected that upward of 200 teachers will be present.

A paper has been started at Windsor by the enterprising journalist and poet, J. C. Keene. It is called the Russian River Echo.

Ex-Governor John G. Downey of Los Angeles, was inspecting the work on the Cloverdale and Ukiah Railroad during the week in the interest of his sister, Mrs. Peter Donahue.—Reveille.

The Healdsburg Enterprise has passed into the hands of Messrs. J. M. Alexander, C. H. Pond and Frank K. Merritt. Under the new management it will be independent in politics, instead of Democratic as heretofore. We wish the new publishers success.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gibbs, a well-known Santa Rosa lady, died in that city last Sunday. She was a native of Ohio and aged 53 years, 2 months and 16 days. She was universally esteemed and widely known on account of her generous and charitable nature.

Mrs. A. W. Moulton has let the contract to E. G. Furber to construct a winery on her vineyard south of town. The size of the winery will be 44x90 feet with a capacity of 100,000 gallons. It will be built on the side hill and will be arranged in a most convenient manner. It will be modeled after Mr. Furber's winery with improvements that practical experience may suggest.—Cloverdale Reveille.

INDEX - TRIBUNE.
SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1900.
CARELESS WITH A GUN.
A SENSIBLE MAN NEVER FOOLS WITH FIREARMS "NOT LOADED."

Story of the Boy with an Empty Shop.
A Lesson for Life—Another Illustration of Criminal Carelessness—The Only Safe Way.

Never handle firearms carelessly. I used to do it, but of late years it makes me hold to have anybody point a gun or pistol toward me. Two events in my life have done more to inspire within me a wholesome respect for firearms than any thing else that ever happened to me.
When I was about 15 years old I borrowed a shotgun of a chum.
"Is it loaded?" was the first question I asked.
"No," was the reply, and I, like a goose, believed what he said.
On the way home with it I met another boy, who began dodging behind the shade trees as I approached, Indian fashion. I,
of course, must do my part of the tragedy,
so cocking the gun, I began to skulk too, until, when we finally met, to show that he was plainly in my power, I put the muzzle of the gun up close to his nose and pulled the trigger.
I thought no more of the circumstance until evening, when I began cleaning the gun, and found that it was clogged up so I could not blow through it. Procuring a cap, I placed it on the muzzle, and, going to the front door, pulled the trigger, and away he went, with a report that awoke
the neighbors for blocks around and filled the leaves of a cherry tree near by as full of holes as a skimmer.
Then I thought of Tom, into whose face I had snipped the gun. The fact that the cap had become damp alone prevented the gun from being discharged and blowing Tom's head into smithereens.
Though his after life was a fizzle, and he filled a drunkard's grave at an early age, yet how my life would have been brighter if, through my boyish carelessness, he had been killed. I vowed a solemn vow at that time never to be careless with firearms.

ANOTHER INCIDENT.
One more circumstance occurred after I had grown to manhood. I was engaged in measuring lumber, when, hearing a "click" behind me, I turned, and there stood a boatman pointing an army musket generally at my head and sighting along the barrel. The muzzle of the gun was only six feet from my head, and he had just snipped it at me. He was a man 60 years old, and, despite the first angry impulse that came over me, said:
"You old fool, you ought to know better than to snap a gun at a fellow's head
in that careless way."
"Aw, pahaw!" said he, "it isn't loaded."
"How do you know that?"
"Because it has been lying around my boat for more than six months, and I know it isn't."

"That's just the reason you don't know anything about it," said I.
"Well, now, you're making such a fuss about it, I'm going to get a cap and show
you. Here, hold the gun till I come back."
While he was gone I ran the ramrod down the barrel and found that it was loaded.

When he returned with a cap I removed the old one and replaced it with a new one. Pointing the gun upward I pulled the trigger, and, followed, the cap came out from which he had snipped me off the lumber pile and raised the boatman's hair on end.
"What do you think now?" I asked.
"Well," said he, "that's the last time
I shall point a gun at anybody if I live 100 years."

A damp cap alone saved me that time, and, though I should not have been to blame, yet this event would have blighted my life still more effectively than the first one, for it would undoubtedly have blown my head off my shoulders, and a man who finds himself in that condition can but acknowledge that his life is, in a measure, blighted, and his future plans and prospects somewhat interfered with.

Don't fool with firearms. A gun is loaded, and everybody knows it is loaded, there is little danger. It is the gun and the revolver which is not loaded that goes off and kills folks or maims them for life.
So the only safe way is to handle them all the time as though they were loaded.
Get into the habit of so doing; then if it will become natural and easy to you, and you may be spared the agony of gazing upon the mangled form of some friend through whom you have let daylight.
Always keep behind a gun yourself, and point the muzzle away from other people.
—Sunshine.

Pickaninny Transportation in Georgia.
One day a large family of slaves came through the fields to join us. The head of the family, a venerable negro, was mounted on a mule, and safely stowed away behind him in pockets or bags attached to the blanket which covered the mule were two little children, one on each side. This gave rise to a most important invention—i. e., "the best way of transporting pickaninnies." On the next day a mule appeared in column covered by a blanket, with two pockets on each side, each containing a little negro. Very soon old tent flies or strong canvas was used instead of the blanket, and often ten or fifteen pockets were attached to each side, so that nothing of the mule was visible except the head, tail and feet, all else being covered by the black woolly heads and bright shining eyes of the little darlings. Occasionally a cow was made to take the place of the mules; this was a decided improvement, as the cow furnished rations as well as transportation for the babies—James Lane Allen in The Century.

The City of House Owners.
Building and loan associations are most numerous in Philadelphia, and are said to have done more for any other force to make that preeminently "the city of house owners." The shareholders pay twenty-five cents a week for each share, and as money accumulates it is sold to those who need it at whatever interest the lenders are willing to offer. Security is taken on the land on which the building
the money is used, and the interest is divided among the shareholders.—New York Sun.

Japan's New War Ships.
The Japan naval department intends ordering from private dock yards in the country about fifteen men of war and gunboats constructed on the newest style, at a cost of not less than 500,000 yen each. The new war ships are to be completed within two years.—Chicago Herald.
